The Fiske Guide to Colleges 2027
A publication of Sourcebooks

Dear College Student,

For more than 40 years, the Fiske Guide to Colleges has been helping students pick the “right” school for them. It contains profiles of the “best and most interesting” colleges in the nation—based in large part on perspectives and quotes from students like you who attend them. Perhaps you used the Guide during your own college search!

We are now preparing the 2027 edition of the Fiske Guide, and we need your help. We want to find out as much as we can about your college—its academic strengths and weaknesses, what sort of students attend, the social life, extracurricular activities, and so forth. What, in short, makes your future alma mater a special place?

You have been selected by your school as one of a small number of current students to provide us with such information using an online questionnaire. The questions are open-ended—allowing you freedom to express your ideas. We’re asking what you really think about your school. And we encourage you to have fun with your answers and let your personality shine through! If you feel that you are not in a position to answer any particular question, just skip it and move on to the next one.

We would appreciate receiving your thoughts by June 27, 2025.

Thanks in advance for your help. We appreciate your assistance—and so will the tens of thousands of high school students and their families who may read your responses in the Fiske Guide.

Sincerely,

Edward B. Fiske

1. Why did you choose to attend your college or university? Has it met your expectations?

2. How would you describe the academic climate and quality of instruction at your school?

3. Please suggest any special academic programs or learning opportunities that prospective students ought to know about. We're thinking of anything from living/learning communities and study abroad to interesting undergraduate research opportunities. Have any of these been important to you?

4. How would you rate the quality of student support services, such as career advising and mental health services, that your school offers? Are any of these services particularly strong? Or weak?

5. How would you describe your fellow students to your friends back home? What are they like? And how diverse is the student body—socioeconomically, politically, geographically, and otherwise? Who might have a tough time fitting in?

6. Are there any hot button social or political issues on your campus?

7. Please describe the social scene on campus. Is there a party culture? What does the surrounding area offer?

8. What are the annual festivals, athletic rivalries, or other traditions that make your school unique and interesting?

9. What are the students' biggest complaints about your school? Is there anything you would like to improve?

10. Like students themselves, colleges have special institutional cultures that differentiate them from other schools that may seem similar. How would you characterize the unique institutional personality of your school? In other words, how would you describe your school to a friend who's considering applying?

What is your major?

What is your current year?
